Abstract	Please expand the abstract to meet the required word limit of 200–250 words while ensuring that it clearly summarizes the study's objectives, methodology, key findings, and main conclusions.
Methodology	The authors mention dropping the first year for lagged variables but do not specify which variables are lagged or the number of lags used. Clarification is needed.
Results	The variable definitions (Table 2) include "CM" (critical mass), "Blau," and "Shannon" as alternative gender diversity measures. However, these variables do not appear in the results tables (Tables 4–5). This inconsistency should be resolved. Either these variables should be included in the main analysis, or their exclusion should be justified.
Bibliography/References	Double-check all references for accuracy, particularly for sources with missing information (e.g., author names, article titles, publication years, volume, issue no, DOI).
Others	The AI index is really high. It is necessary to revise the text, and AI index of 15% is considered acceptable.

	• The manuscript should be well arranged and follow strictly journal guidelines. • To meet the language requirement, kindly ensure that all non-English text is accurately translated into English. Additionally, a thorough proofreading for grammar, syntax, and clarity would enhance the overall quality of the manuscript. If needed, consider seeking assistance from a professional translator or language editor to ensure the translation is precise and fluent.
Decision	Requires Minor revision.

Authors' Contributions	The Authors' Contributions section provides a transparent account of each author's specific role in the creation of a manuscript. Sample

	Alice Brown designed the research and wrote the review of the literature. Charles Davis and Emma Fisher performed the empirical analysis and prepared figures. All authors contributed to writing and revising the manuscript.
Disclosure of AI Use	If you used AI tools to help, write your paper, please mention this in the Acknowledgements section. Include the name of the AI tool, its version, and how you used it. Sample The author(s) used OpenAI's ChatGPT to edit and refine the wording of the Introduction. All outputs were reviewed and verified by the authors.
Citations Policy	The manuscript should ensure that citations are relevant, balanced, and ethically appropriate. Excessive self-citation should be avoided, as it may introduce bias and reduce the objectivity of the work. Authors must not disproportionately cite their own publications, those of their colleagues, or those from their institution. Additionally, references must be directly related to the content and context of the paper; unrelated citations should be removed. Please note that if, after publication, evidence of fake or inappropriate citations is found, the paper will be retracted in accordance with the journal's publication ethics policy.
